

Sportsclub Welcomes Amanda Kreczmer

Sportsclub welcomes new Sportsclub Kids Programming Director Amanda Kreczmer. Amanda is native of the Upstate from Spartanburg, but interestingly holds dual citizenship in the United States and Poland. She earned her B.S. in Health Promotion & Behavior from Clemson in 2019. Amanda is definitely going to be decked out in orange on Fridays during football season.

During her senior year at Clemson, she had the privilege of interning with the Bradshaw Institute for Community Child Health & Advocacy in Greenville. Amanda worked with both the school health team and the obesity prevention program.

Amanda states, "I have been blessed to have been working with children since I was a teen. I first started working with youths as a volunteer tennis coach. Once I got to college, I worked as both an afterschool and summer camp counselor with my local Y. The amazing children, parents and coworkers I worked with helped me to realize that I wanted to continue my career in working with youths leading me to being the new Kids Programing Director here at Sportsclub."

Sportsclub cannot be more thrilled to have Amanda's energy and creativeness as part of the Sportsclub Kids Program. Please feel free to introduce yourself to Amanda when you see her on the Sportsclub Greenville campus or tennis courts.
